In the Assembly, on Wednesday evening, the Apportionment Bill being under consideration, Mr. LOOMIS's amendment to form the 15th District from Saratoga, Fulton, Schenectady and the south of Hamilton, was adopted-as was also his other making Montgomery and Herkimer the 16th. INTENSE VILLANY .- Strangers or persons not well acquainted with the various rascalities of the city will do well to be on their guard-generally; but we cannot rest satisfied with this vague caution when we hear of such petty villanies as occasionally come to our ear, one of which we learned yesterday from some of those who have suffered therefrom. An Englishman, who has been for something like a month established in an ofoffice business-representing himself as a landsurveyor and as wishing to procure the collection of small accounts, &c. through this city. Two gentlemen have called upon us personally and stated that they answered his advertisement, offering their services. They were waited upon by him in person, when he told them that the business in which he wished to engage their services was one of great responsibility, and that they must therefore deposit with him security for their faithfulness and good conduct. Each of these gentlemen left with him in pledge $30-and from the fifteen or twenty persons whom he has induced to do likewise within the last formight he has procured several hundred more. He then gives them letters to persons around the city and sends them around merely upon sham business, to give them a show of employment-never paying them any thing or giving them any real business. No one of these young men knew that he had any others in his employ. If this scamp be not a fit subject for the Police, we see little use for a Police in our city; and it should be borne in mind that this is only one of the thousand methods by which the industrious and needy are robbed of the little they have been enabled to secure.

O A fortunate escape from drowning was experienced last evening, by a little son, aged six years, of Mr. Blake, corner of Washington and Bank streets, who went with some of his comrades down to West street, near Hammond, and seeing the larger boys dive off and swim in the river, he deliberately pulled off his clothes, and jumped in, and whilst in the act of drowning he was rescued, at first to all appearance lifeless. Dr. Miller was sent for, and arrived within a very short time; a very slight appearance of life was discoverable, and by the unremitting attention of the physician, together with the assistance of some kind neighbors, they succeeded, after several hours, in restoring him alive to his distressed and anxious parents.

I. B. Hoxie was destroyed by fire on Friday last. The loss is $3,000-insurance $2000. The building belonged to Jacob Burrill, and was insured for

FROM CHINA .- We give the following additional paragraphs by the Horatio, which we had a majority of me in Joint Ballot, not counting not time to give yesterday, by reason of the late lowing is an extract from the Log of the brigantine 'Rosa,' J. M. Metcalf, commander:

CHINHAE, April 5th -One, A. M., perceiving appearances of large fires on the river above the shipping, weighed and dropped down, intending to anchor below the shipping; the tide sweeping us very near to the 'Blonde,' anchored about three or four ship's lengths ahead of her, and cleared ship, with every thing prepared for weighing and slipping. 2, A. M. her d a heavy explosion about the central ship, followed by groans and exclamations, as if from some one in the water; chief officer immediately went with a boat's crew to-the spot, but too late to save the sufferers. He then proceeded further to ascertain the cause of the explosion: found that several boats, connected together, had dropped alongside the Eroard, transport, one apparently containing a trunk; two lascars had entered the boats, intending to secure them, when the explosion took place and they prished. Whilst receiving this explunation, another raft exploded under the quarter, blowing in the quarter gellery ports, lifting the cutter in her tackles under the davits, and covering the Ernard with liquid fire, but fortunately no more serious damage to the ship. An officer of the 'Blende,' with three of the boat's crew who were just alongside of the votel at the moment, were most seriously burnt. Boat returned immemediately to the 'Rosa,' several more rafts passing within half our length of us. Our struck the Blonde's pinnace under the lower boom and exploded directly afterwards, together with several in her immediate vicinity, fortunately without doing further damage. At this time light rain was falling, which soon increased to he -y showers. All the ships with boats ahead ready to tow the rafts away. Several explosions taking place at the ankes in the mouth of the river, the rafts having drive athwart them. At daybreak found several of the rafts on shore, full of combustibles. Some of them were the common river sampans, with a box containing about 50 or 60 pounds of powder, with a match inserted in a tube through the centre of the box; at a calculated time, the power falling through a hole in the tube on the match. 11, A. Whampoa-their fears were dispelled. There is no intention on the part of the Chinese officers to erect fortifications below Whampoa.

Macao, April 26 .- Reports from Amoy say that the city of Ningpo has been burnt to the ground by the English troops, fired by shells, and the rucapital of Chekeang, gains ground; if it is true, we suppose the British troops approached the city by the Chekeang river.

This is the greatest blow yet struck against the Chinese Empire; and if the British forces do not reach Pekin this year, we confidently expect possession will be taken of the great canal by the Yangtszekeng, of Nankin, the ancient capital of the Ming dynasty of Keangning, the capital of the province of Keangnan, and of Fuchowfoo, the provincial capital of Fokien: the most flourishing districts of the Empire will then be under our control, while the supplies of grain and sysse silver will be cut off from the northern provinces and the

THE STEAM FRIGATE MISSOUI, was at anchor inside Negro Island, Camden, (Me.,) on Monday afternoon. The report of her having been ashore on the reef south of Martha's Vineyard, is contradicted by Mr B. He was afterwards cut open, and was found to contain a red flannel shirt and the skin of the hand of a man, with only one finger nail; with the exception of the loss of the nails, the skin of the hand has retained its proper form. Trial of Lieut. Charles Wilkes, U. S. N.

NAVAL COURT MARTIAL. On board the U. S. Ship North Carolina, lying in the New York Harbor. Reported for The New-York Tribune.

FIFTEENTH DAYFRIDAY, Sept. 2. The Court met at the usual hour, and Passed Midshipman Blunt was permitted to make a correction, or rather an adright. Mr. Blunt said it had been stated in the evidence of Purser Waldron, that his pay was stopped by Lieut. Wilkes for not keeping a journal, when the fact was that he did keep a journal up to the last day he did duty in the Exploring Expedition. And moreover his journal never would have been discontinued but for the impossibility of writing in his berth, owing to the mass of dunnage and other lumber in the steerage. He made a note of the fact in his journal when he sent it in to Lieut. Wilkes, and it was for making such a note that his pay was stopped. This correction was of course made informally, as the testimony had been closed the day previous on both sides, but we give it publicity for the sake of doing justice to the junior officers. The testimony taken was then read over by the Judge Advocate, after which the court adjourned, with the understanding that no formal meeting would take place until Tuesday, as the Judge Advocate wishes to go to Washington, and Lieut. Wilkes's defence will not be ready until that day.

The trial of Commodore Ballard is said to be next in order before the court. It will be taken up on Wednesday.
